THE PRESIDENT'S BUDGET FOR FISCAL YEAR 2010

- Deficits. The projected 2009 deficit is $1.8 trillion (12.3 percent of GDP). This is the largest deficit as a portion of our economy since 1945. The budget projects the deficit will shrink to 3.1 percent of GDP in 2019.
- Debt. The budget increases the national debt by $2.7 trillion this year to $12.7 trillion and doubles the national debt in 8 years. Debt held by the public will increase by $2.6 trillion this year.
- Taxes/Revenues. The budget contains $1.4 trillion in tax increases. The cap and trade proposal accounts for $646 billion of this increase. The budget resurrects the death tax.
- Total Spending. Total spending in 2009 will be $3.9 trillion, or 27 percent of GDP. After ten years, total spending will remain at 22.6 percent of GDP.
- Discretionary Appropriations. The budget proposes an increase of $71.7 billion for 2010 excluding emergencies. This is a 6.7 percent increase above the 2009 enacted level. The budget requests an additional $130 billion for the war in 2010 and similar to the past administration, proposes $50 billion in each year thereafter as a placeholder. Non-defense spending increases by 9.3 percent from 2009 to 2010 while defense spending increases by 4.0 percent.
- Entitlement Spending. The budget increases entitlement spending by $1 trillion over the next decade.
- Gimmicks. The budget takes the highest level of war spending in 2008, inflates it, and then funds the war at a placeholder level while claiming nearly $1.6 trillion in “savings.” The budget also includes funding cliffs in SCHIP, the sunset of the College Access and Completion Program, and a magic asterisk noting that the $634 billion reserve fund will not be sufficient to fully fund comprehensive reform.
